On the last of every tree it is written that Mohammed Achmed was a true mehdî, and that every true one could read it, though it was inaccessible to the individual. The defendant, aged 24, was arrested recently at Kerefa, for the outrage and murder of a girl of 9. The body was found in a wood through which he had passed on his way to school. The horrible cause drew great excitement in the district.

er. Gen. Baker was wounded at the of El Teb on the 20th of February. He was struck by one of the balls from a panel shell exploding about fifteen paces in front of him. It struck him on the right cheek immediately below the eye and buried itself in the upper jaw. At day Surgeon Logan cranked the jaw, not without some difficulty. It was iron, and three ounces in weight. The operation was somewhat prolonged, but the patient is progressing favorably.

French bank-note manufacture has been discovered by the Paris police. The proprietors are a M. and Mme. who, as a blind to their transactions, had a house-agents office in the Galerie Vivienne. What led to the detection of the forgeries was the tendering by Mme. of a fifty-franc note to a Paris shopkeeper. The spurious character having certified, she was detained in custody, and the police proceeded to search the office in the Galerie Vivienne. They found a quantity of inks and other materials employed in the manufacture of stamps and his wife carried on at Conbeaux. On proceeding thither the police ascertained that, alarmed at the non-return of his wife, Drot had destroyed a large number of plates and forged notes. It was ascertained that the forgeries have been carried

Immediately after the death of the resident of Siano, in March, 1883, his remains were inclosed in a vast urn of costly marble, several yards in height, which was placed in a large room opening upon the court-yard of his palace, which stands on a creek flowing into the river that crosses the capital. Bands of natives, relieving each other in turns, keep performing prayers night and day in the chamber, around which were disposed all the orders and decoration by the dead man in his lifetime.

Five months after his death the urn its contents were carried in state to the temple, erected for the purpose, where the cremation was performed in
